Article 8 The declaration statement, as described in Paragraph 1 of the preceding Article, shall specify the following items:

1. There are no records of a serious breach of contract occurring in the execution of any government-sponsored science and technology projects in the past five years.

2. There is no suspension punishment from participating in any government-sponsored science and technology projects currently in effect due to a serious breach of contract in the past.

3. No duplication of tax incentives, rewards, or subsidies for the same matter under other laws has been claimed for the same subsidized project.

4. No unpaid taxes have been outstanding in the past three years. However, individuals who apply for the subsidy under Subparagraph 6 or 7, Paragraph 1, Article 3 are exempted.

5. No serious violation of laws or regulations related to environmental protection, labor safety and health, food safety and sanitation laws, or relevant provisions of the People with Disabilities Rights Protection Act has occurred and been identified by the relevant central competent authorities in the past three years. However, this does not apply to circumstances that occurred prior to the enforcement of the Statute.

If false statements are found in the applicant's declaration, the Ministry and its subordinate agencies shall reject the application; for those whose applications have been approved, the subsidy shall be revoked, the contract shall be terminated, and disbursed subsidy shall be refund.

Article 9 The Ministry or its subordinate agencies, may convene review meetings for the purposes of reviewing the applications, changes, and irregularities in the execution of subsidy cases.

The Ministry or its subordinate agencies may notify the applicant to provide explanations or send personnel to conduct on-site inspections for the purpose of conducting reviews. If necessary, the relevant authorities or institutions commissioned by the Ministry or its subordinate agencies to assist in conducting financial reviews.

Article 10 The review period for a subsidy case from the date the applicant's documents are completed to the date the applicant is notified of the completion of the review shall not exceed three months; if necessary, the review period may be extended for an additional month.

Article 11 If the application has been reviewed and met the requirements, the applicant shall sign a subsidy contract with the Ministry or its subordinate agencies that approved the subsidy within the period specified in the subsidy approval letter. If the applicant fails to sign the contract within a specified period, the approval shall be rendered invalid, unless otherwise consented by the Ministry or its subordinate agencies who agree to an extension.

Article 12 The subsidy recipients shall establish a separate account for the subsidy funds and maintain separate accounts respectively. All of the interest generated from the subsidy account and any balance remaining after the completion of the project shall be fully returned to the national treasury by the Ministry or its subordinate agencies.

To examine whether there are any duplications of application, the use of subsidy funds and the implementation effectiveness of the project, the Ministry or its subordinate agencies may dispatch personnel or commission a reputable organization to inspect the relevant documents, account books, and the status of project execution. The subsidy recipient shall not refuse such an examination.

The subsidy recipient has the obligation to respond to the above examination described in the preceding paragraph and shall submit work reports and details of the use of funds to the Ministry or its subordinate agencies in accordance with the agreed-upon schedule.

If the subsidy recipient violates any provisions of the preceding two paragraphs, the Ministry or its subordinate agencies may terminate the disbursement of subsequent funds pursuant to the subsidy contract.

Article 13 If any one of the following circumstances occurs that the recipient fails to execute the subsidy project, the Ministry or its subordinate agencies may, in accordance with the terms of the subsidy contract, suspend the next disbursement and refund the full amount of disbursed subsidy:

1.Failure to promote business according to the project or significant delays in progress, while failure to improve within a specified period of time, as specified by the Ministry or its subordinate agencies.

2.A significant discrepancy between the effectiveness of business promotion and the objective of the subsidy project, and failure to improve within a specified period of time, as specified by the Ministry or its subordinate agencies.

3.Failure to pass a review, inspection, or acceptance by the Ministry or its subordinate agencies, and failure to improve within a specified period of time.

4.When it comes to subsidies for scientific and technology research and development projects, where the proportion of the subsidy amount exceeds 50% or reaches the announced amount stipulated by the Government Procurement Act, it violates the relevant provisions stipulated in the Regulations Governing Procurements for Scientific and Technological Research and Development.

If any of the aforementioned circumstances occur, the Ministry or its subordinate agencies may, based on the severity of the situation, reject other subsidy applications from the said recipient for a period of one to five years.

Article 14 The Ministry or its subordinate agencies shall conduct comprehensive evaluations of the implementation effectiveness of subsidy projects, and the recipient shall provide all necessary information for evaluation.

Article 15 If the amount of the subsidy from the Ministry or its subordinate agencies exceeds 50% of the total funds for a technology project, except otherwise prescribed by law, the ownership and utilization of R&D results shall comply with the Regulations stipulated in the Government Scientific and Technological Research and Development Results Ownership and Utilization Regulation.

When transferring or licensing R&D results, they shall be provided in open formats such as open data and open source without restriction on purpose, region, or duration of use, and licensed for public welfare proposes in a non-revocable basis, or in other ways that further promote innovation or enhance the competitiveness of digital economy industries. They shall not be subject to the limitations stipulated in Article 15 of the Government Scientific and Technological Research and Development Results Ownership and Utilization Regulation.

If a subsidy recipient violates the provisions of the first paragraph, the Ministry or its subordinate agencies may terminate the subsidy contract and shall refuse to accept any subsidy application from the applicant within five years from the date of completion of the innovation or research and development; if the reason is attributable to the subsidy recipient, the Ministry or its subordinate agencies shall cancel the subsidy contract and refund the subsidy.

Article 16 Unless it is subject to restricted disclosure or non-disclosure specified in Article 18 of the Freedom of Government Information Law, the subsidy items, subsidy recipients, approval dates, subsidy amounts (including cumulative amounts), and related information for the subsidized projects shall be disclosed quarterly on the website of the Ministry or its subordinate agencies.

Article 17 The Ministry or its subordinate agencies may commission legal entities or organizations to conduct the acceptance, review, approval, inspection, disbursement, refund of subsidies and rewards, assistance, and other related matters stipulated in the Regulations.

Article 18 For industries engaged in the matters stipulated in Paragraph 1, Article 3, the Ministry or its subordinate agencies may provide rewards for the industries. The recipients of the rewards, eligibility criteria, evaluation standards, application procedures, approving agencies, and other related matters shall be announced separately by the Ministry or its subordinate agencies and published in the Executive Yuan Gazette.

The provisions of Article 8 and Article 16 shall apply mutatis mutandis to the application for rewards and related matters.

Article 19 For industries engaged in the matters stipulated in Paragraph 1, Article 3, the Ministry or its subordinate agencies may provide assistance. The eligibility criteria and other related matters regarding the recipients of this assistance shall be announced on the website of the Ministry or its subordinate agencies and may be published in the Executive Yuan Gazette.

Article 20 The Ministry or its subordinate agencies may evaluate and assess the effectiveness of the assistance and counseling services provided by the commissioned organization(s) for the recipient to serve as an important basis for reviewing subsidized projects.

Article 21 The assistance unit may establish a single service window to provide assistance and counseling services.

Article 22 The utilization, disbursement, and reimbursement of funds for subsidized projects shall be carried out in accordance with the following regulations:

1.If an application for subsidy is made to two or more agencies for subsidies for the same project, the application shall clearly indicate the content of all funds, subsidized items, and amounts of subsidy requested from each agency. If there is any concealment and false information, the subsidized project shall be revoked and the disbursed amounts shall be refund.

2.The subsidy funds are to be disbursed in accordance with the agreed-upon schedule. The Ministry or its subordinate agencies shall specify in the contract the number of disbursements, methods, and the proportion of the amount.

3.The reimbursement shall be conducted in accordance with the guidelines for handling government expenditure vouchers. The execution of subsidies to private groups and individuals by central government agencies shall also be carried out in accordance with relevant regulations and contracts.

Article 23 The funds, as required to implement the Regulations, shall be allocated from the budget by the Ministry or its subordinate agencies.

Article 24 The Regulations shall come into force from the date of promulgation.
